UNDERWOOD LAMBERTS PRESENT TAX SYSTEM

the task of the reduction of taxation without hearing in mind the motives that may lay behind the cause that produces the levy and to always remember that there are some who first of all desire high taxation that they may destroy private property, that the home life and then the very fabric of our natural existence.

"So much for one angle of the situation that confronts us. Another angle is the answer to the question, does it pay to tax until it does, or even until it hurts? Let us pause for a minute to adjust our fundamental principles. It is a fundamental canon of taxation that all taxes are paid in the end from the accumulated wealth of the people taxed. Some have said from rent, profit, wages, but in the end all wealth is the accumulation of the passes that grows out of the heads and hands of men and women. So that at the end of the decade or the century the extraordinary burden laid on the body politic must come from the men who toil and the women who reap or there must be a diminution of the accumulated wealth of the country that existed when the burden was laid. The question before us is whether the nation is stronger, safer and more productive with a great store of accumulated wealth or without it. Russia dissipated her wealth for a theory some years ago. We amassed ours. Russia has a larger territory, a larger population and greater natural resources than we have. Were you outside both countries and choosing a home, which would you move to?

"The genius of our great development has come through the massing of our dollars of some great enterprise and buying the brains and the labor to put it through. This takes idle money looking for investment and you will not find it at the appointed hour if you tax it to death.

"During the Great War the American people accepted excessive rates of taxation with patience and without complaint, and are entitled to great credit for the sacrifices they made in order that our armies might win the war. They had the right to believe that after the war was over they would be relieved in large part from the excessive burdens they had borne without complaint.

"Many of the war tax burdens have been repealed by the Congress including the so-called excess profits tax and the small taxes on transfers, sales and the like that produce more annoyance than they did revenue. The general trend of tax legislation has been downward but nevertheless the burden resting on the larger accumulation of capital has remained in the confiscatory class. The problem we have to solve is whether it is wise from the standpoint of the whole people to allow the conditions to continue. What I have just said applies to the inheritance tax as well as to the income tax."

GEORGIA LEADS IN USE OF FEDERAL ROAD CASH

Atlanta, Ga., June 15.—Of a total of eight Southern States, up to June 30, 1924, Georgia had expended more funds on federal aid projects, and completed more miles of highway than any of these states according to data compiled by the United States Secretary of Agriculture, and contained in the current issue of "Georgia Highways," issued by the State Highway Department.

Florida, according to the data compiled by the government department, spent the lowest amount of money on federal aid project, as well as completing the smallest mileage of highways on Federal aid projects.

Approximately $18,000,000 has been expended by the State Highway Department on Federal aid projects, up to June 30, of last year, the data shows, while North Carolina counts second in the eight states, with a total of approximately $16,000,000 expended on federal aid projects. Of this $18,000,000 expended by Georgia, a total of more than 1,500 miles of road was constructed as federal aid projects, while North Carolina and South Carolina are about evenly tied in the amount of federal aid road work completed, averaging about one thousand miles for each state, the data shows. South Carolina, however, has expended only $9,000,000 on federal aid projects, while her sister state of North Carolina has expended almost twice that amount.

We recently heard of a boy who said that the reason they call a fellow the best man at a wedding is because he is better off than the one that's getting married.

SCHOOL ISSUES CARD ON PEANUT PROBLEM

Atlanta, Ga., June 15.—"How to grow the peanut and 105 ways of preparing it for use" and "How to save the sweet potato and ways of preparing it for the table" are the titles of two valuable pamphlets which are being distributed without charge by the Southern headquarters of the Hampton-Tuskegee Endowment Fund, 409 Palmer Building, this city.

These pamphlets were prepared by Dr. George Carver, of Tuskegee Institute, whose remarkable work in agricultural chemistry has made him a figure of national interest and has even attracted attention abroad. At the Southern Industrial Exhibit, held last month in Grand Central Palace, New York City, Dr. Carver's exhibit, numbering hundreds of products derived from peanuts, sweet potatoes, pecans, clay, and other common raw materials generally supposed to have very limited possibilities, was the wonder of the whole show and attracted the most favorable attention. Dr. Carver has lectured and exhibited his discoveries widely in the South also, and his bulletins have been distributed by thousands. Copies of those mentioned above may be had on application to the address given.

COUNTY SCHOOL NEWS

The Georgia legislature will be urged to pass an appropriation of one million dollars with which to aid in the state-wide movement to consolidate the rural schools into effective consolidations that thorough work may be accomplished in the rural sections in all the grades from the first to and through eleventh.

Where good strong schools have been operated for years, is where the men who now represent the men of affairs came from. And in the future the men worth while will come from that section of this or any other county where adequate schools are operated to meet the needs of the children who are now in the schools and those to come.

All over the other counties of the state, you will find conveniently located nice brick schools the result of real cooperation on the part of the people concerned in effective consolidation of the smaller schools into one central plant that enables the pupils to prepare for college. Which means at least a high school education for the rural boys and girls.

And the rural boys and girls deserve just as good schools as any boys and girls on earth. Consolidated schools cannot be had at every one-teacher school. Nor can they be had to suit the individuals to be benefited. All important movements have to have their hearty cooperation of the people affected.

How can a great county like Bulloch lag behind in matters educational? Shall we sit idly by and let our sister counties and states, leave us at the very bottom educationally? We have means to support any reasonable demand that is necessary to have for our boys and girls the thing in the way of educational requirement.

In a few sections of Bulloch we have some schools that will result in better schooling for the boys and girls of these sections? Why not have in your section one of these good schools? Your children are worth as much as citizens as the children of other communities. If you are satisfied with your old one or two-teacher schools, you will find that your neighbors' children will be better equipped and will have better opportunities in life than it will be possible for yours to have unless you see to it that the best school possible is built where you can get your children to it.

Consolidation is coming. It is inevitable. It has proven to be the most sensible method of really educating the rural children that has ever been tried. This is an accepted fact. Now, the thing to do is to get by with the patrons who are in the way of this essential for the children. Personal or selfish objections should be eliminated that the children for whom the schools are operated may have the very best of opportunities while young and in school.

The cost to send to a poor school and get a poor result is about the same as the cost to send to a good school and get good results. You have to sacrifice their time, buy them clothing and feed them to attend the poorest school, which is the biggest expense at all. If you are willing to do this and you have to do this, then why not do the better thing—make it possible for your children to be placed in a real school.

that real and beneficial results may be obtained? Your county board of education can create these large districts for you. They have that right under the law. But they do not have the right to vote bond issues or local tax which you will need to create and operate these worth while schools. You have to pay school tax. No way to get out of that. That is a state law. You do not have to vote a local district tax unless you desire to do it that you may have the school for your children that I am telling you about.

This school—the big consolidated school—will cost you as individuals but very little more than the one or two-teacher schools. In many instances, the big school costs less than the small school. And get this idea: If you do not get the big schools with the high grades with a teacher at each grade, your neighbor is sure to get it. And when he gets this kind of school, it is perfectly easy for you to see he is getting the advantage of you and your community. The big school will have the help of the state if the bill will pass that is coming up for consideration this summer. And we expect it to become a law. Now, there is state aid in a small way for two-teacher schools that already qualified like I am urging others to qualify. This aid, these schools will hold. They will hold this special appropriation because they met the requirements and have secured it. But there is coming further aid for other schools, unless all signs fail and the communities that get busy and get in line for this special state aid will be the ones to get it. And why should they not get it?

When you do consider consolidation, do not make just a small consolidation. Make it big enough to be a real school.

I wish to make a special request, of the trustees to give employment to our own Bulloch county teachers before we go outside of the county to hire teachers of like qualifications. We find that we have not sufficient teachers for the higher grades to supply all the positions we have. We have the teachers in Bulloch, but they desire to go elsewhere which makes it necessary to do likewise. But so far as the hiring of teachers who have not had college or normal training, we have about four times as many girls and boys as we can possibly take care of. Then, why should we go out of the county to get no better trained teachers than we have right here at home who will do just as good work? It would be a good idea for all of the schools to hire only college trained or normal trained teachers for all of the positions. But that is an impossible thing. We must have strong teachers at the heads of the schools. And we must have strong primary teachers. Let us try to get normal trained teachers to do the primary work as well as secure strong teachers for the principals' places. Then, we know we will have to supply quite a few teachers who have had but little normal training and just a high school education. Don't waste your child's time and your money by being negligent about employing your teachers.

Quite a few schools have failed to report the election of trustees. Unless your trustee as elected, are reported to the board before the first Tuesday in July, the board will appoint trustees to fill the vacancies. Nothing else left for them to do. A school community should manifest enough interest in its school to select good men to act as trustees. Those school communities that have failed to elect, or if you have elected, failed to report your election, will find that the board will appoint and commission trustees for you next first Tuesday.

The new Preteroria and Pleasant Grove school to be built at Middle Ground Primitive Baptist church will be rushed to completion in order to be ready for the October opening. This will be a modern building having six class rooms. There are expected about two hundred students in this consolidation.

The annex to Eda school house will be built during this summer. Three new class rooms will be added. This will give five class rooms with ample cloak rooms and teachers' rooms. Eda will have a real school in the future.

COLORADO MAN BRINGS FIRST RIPE MELONS

Lloyd Miney, a colored subscriber living near Jimps, led the procession with the first watermelons Saturday afternoon of last week. At the Times office he displayed three ripe Pearsons and divided evenly with the editor—giving him one and a half, which is certainly commendable conduct.

Lloyd is a good farmer and watermelons are not the only thing he is successful in growing.

DOZEN NEW MARKETS FOR SOUTH GEORGIA. Tobacco growers have set new life into agriculture of state.

Moultrie, Ga., June 21.—Twelve new tobacco markets are to be opened in south Georgia at the beginning of the 1925 selling season, which has been scheduled for July 21, according to semi-official information received in Moultrie.

New leaf markets are to be established in Moultrie, Albany, Thomasville, Cairo, Pelham, Bainbridge, Quitman, Waycross, Metter, Lyons, Dublin and Alma unless there is some change in the tentative plan where the officials of the "Big Five" meet in Norfolk on June 24 for a three days' conference.

There is much speculation here as the result of the apparent lifting of the lid in the face of the previously announced policy by the big buyers' concerns of holding down the number of new markets rather than establishing new ones. One theory advanced by some is that several of these new markets will be opened in due form, run for a few days, or probably a couple of weeks, and then be closed.

There are others who believe the creation of the dozen new markets is a move on the part of the big buyers to encourage the expansion of the tobacco industry in south Georgia where conditions for the production of a high quality bright leaf tobacco are considered ideal.

When the industry becomes stabilized it may be that some of the smaller markets will be closed.

In this connection it is said by tobacco men familiar with what is being done in the belt, that fully a quarter of a million dollars has been invested in the new warehouse this season. One of the largest of the "Big Five," as the American Tobacco company, the China-American Tobacco company, the Export Tobacco company, the Imperial Tobacco company and the R. J. Reynolds Tobacco company, are referred to, is said to be opposed to extending markets on such a big scale and has let it be known that it will not sell buyers to but five new markets this season.

This would mean that more than half of the new markets will be left at least of holders of one of the biggest concerns in the tobacco business. It is not known definitely which of the new markets will face such a situation. It is known, however, that all of the big five will have representatives on the Moultrie market. Buyers from the big independent concerns are also coming to flock to south Georgia this season in increased numbers, reports reaching here say.

The circuit riders for the big companies have completed their rounds and have collected information which they will submit to their employers at the Norfolk conference next week. On the basis of these reports definite decision as to whether the market will be opened July 21 will be reached. The conference also will decide just where new markets will be opened.

Circuit riders interviewed would not hazard an estimate as to the probable production of tobacco in south Georgia. Others interested, however, feel confident that at least fifty million pounds will be sold on the floors of the south Georgia warehouses. Last year's crop totaled a little more than thirty-two million pounds. The average is fully twice as large as it was in 1924 and, aside from poor stands in some sections, which resulted from the long dry spell in late April and May, the condition of the crop is much better than it was at this date in June last year.

STORES TO CLOSE. On account of the fourth of July being on Saturday, the business houses of Statesboro will remain closed on Monday, the 6th, for the entire day.

NOTICE. All persons interested in the new cemetery at Eureka church will please meet there on Wednesday, 1st of July, for clean up day.

HAIR DOES DAMAGE TO CROPS IN THE COUNTY. Heavy hail which accompanied a rain storm Tuesday afternoon is reported to have wrought considerable damage to growing crops in the vicinity of Port. Ordinary Temple reports the almost total loss of a field of fifty acres of cotton just west of Port. Mollie Denmark and others in the vicinity were likewise hard hit.

It is a matter of general comment that more damage has been done by hail this present spring than ever in past years. However, many of the crops damaged a month or six weeks ago have practically outgrown the damage. In the neighborhood of Nevis, where tobacco was believed to have been practically ruined, the crop has recovered to the extent that no ill effects are now present.

IS TIDE TURNING BACK TO GEORGIA. PROSPECTOR RETURNS FROM FLORIDA TO BUY PROPERTY IN MACON. (Macon Telegraph).

Jennings Adams is through with Florida real estate. He's back in Macon to stay, he said yesterday, and he hadn't been home for more than 24 hours before he purchased a $125,000 place of business property on Cherry street and purchased a site for a residence in Vineville on which he will begin the erection of a $40,000 home about Sept. 1.

"Florida property is getting too high for me to fool with," said Adams. "I dabbled with it a while for a few months and made some money, but it's reached the peak where one has to be mighty careful. The best field right now is in Georgia. I have faith in Georgia and in my own city."

He is reported to have made considerable money in their Florida speculations, and are investing in Macon real estate now. Both own considerable property here and purchased a site at Third and Oak Street on which it is understood they are to build a building for a business establishment.

As having found some of the district schools very shabby, and the physical property in a number of them reported in a bad way.

On Thursday evening at nine o'clock, sixty-five members of the Statesboro High School Alumni Association assembled at Barnes' Cafe for their first annual banquet. The school colors, blue and white, were carried out in the decorations and favors. The place cards were attractive little hand-painted "blue back spelling books."

When the guests had found their places at the tables, everybody was asked to sing "School Days." Miss Hattie Powell, president of the association, presided in a most graceful manner and gave a fitting greeting in a few well chosen words.

Miss Nellie Averitt, as toastmistress, called the roll by names, and the members present responded by rising, singing or giving a yell. The class of 1915 won the loving cup for having the largest per cent attendance.

The following toasts were given: "To Our High School," Miss Elma Wimberly. "To Our President," Miss Louise Hughes. "To Our School Days," Benton Preston.

Mr. Monts and Mrs. D. L. Deal each gave an interesting talk on educational lines. Before leaving the banquet hall, Auld Lang Syne was sung by all the members of the classes.

THEATRE PARTY. Complimentary to three attractive visitors, Misses Minnie and Jesslyn Hamilton of Meigs and Miss Julia Elkins of Savannah, was the theatre party given by Miss Kathleen Jay on Tuesday evening.

After the show the guests were carried to Holland Drug Company where delicious refreshments were served.

Dolls were given as favors.
